

All information is given in good faith however, we take no responsibility for the accuracy.

Always switch off power before doing any maintenance.

The connection box must be mounted securely in a suitable dry area away from contact with water.

If you are at all unsure about the installation consult a qualified electrician.